Thank-giving Proclamation. To the People of Kansas :

In the beginning we were promised that "while the earth remaineth, seed sommer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."

This great promise to man's hope and industry was made by Him, who is the fountain of Truth; who also said, "go forth and replenish the earth ;" and who said unto the tempest "be still." But into God's great purposes man cannot pry. -His ends are worked out in His own good time. Certainly no objection can be raised against our admission in the next Congress, at least so far as the requisite population is concerned. Another year will doubtless witness our now happy and peaceful Territory a bright constellation in the Union of States. A bright future awaits us under the auspices of a new and just Administration.
